Children's Use of the Library

Affects: All Functions	Effective Date: May 8, 1996	Review Date: May 8, 2002	Number
Signature: Name: Title: Board President

A. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to define children's use of the library. Parents are encouraged to register children for library cards at an early age. Programs, activities, and services are planned for children from birth through young adulthood.

B. Policy

Age Requirements

There is no age requirement for obtaining a library card. Parents of minors are required to sign a statement of responsibility for the child's use of the library and for the use of all materials.

Children eight years and older may visit the library and attend library programs unaccompanied by an adult. Children under the age of eight should never be left unsupervised in any area of the library. Parents of underage children attending programs should remain in the library.

Appropriate Conduct for Children

All patrons, regardless of age, are expected to follow the same rules of conduct. Children may require additional consideration, but should not be held to a higher standard of conduct than is expected of adults. The Children's service and programming areas are separated from the adult areas of the library, allowing for greater latitude in noise and activity levels.

Inappropriate or Disruptive Behavior

Parents of young children who are disruptive may be asked by staff to modify the situation so that the child's behavior is less annoying to others.

Older children whose library needs have been met and who are disruptive may be asked to leave the library for the day.

C. Applicability

If the child cannot safely leave the library to return home on his or her own, staff will encourage the child to call a parent. If no parent can be contacted, staff will either allow the child to remain at the library under close supervision until a parent can be contacted or contact the proper authorities, depending upon the severity of the situation.

Children who are in the library near closing time will be encouraged to call a parent. Two staff members will remain with any children left at closing time, helping them locate a parent or family member. Parents will be reminded of the library's hours and of their responsibility for picking their children up on time. Habitual episodes of this type may result in loss of privileges.

C. Responsibility

Responsibility is with the Library Director and the Children's Services Coordinator
